

ALISHA & CHRIS

We, Alisha and Chris, thank you for taking the time to consider us in your adoption journey.

We live just outside Dawson Creek, a city in Northern B.C., close to the Alberta border. While having all the benefits of rural living, such as abundant outdoor spaces, beautiful scenery, wildlife, and recreation opportunities, it also provides all the necessities and conveniences of city living.

There is a local library, multiple schools and daycares, playgrounds, hospital, various shops, performing arts centre, art gallery, and an enormous amount of extra-curricular activities, from sports clubs (including hockey, volleyball, soccer, and baseball), to dance and gym classes, outdoor sports courts and gym, art classes, music lessons and summer camps, and much more.

For anything the City can't provide, the larger urban centres of Fort St. John and Grande Prairie are within a 45-90 minute drive away. Combined with the close sense of community from living in a smaller, rural setting, it is a place we feel lucky to be able to call home.

We met in 2008, while working together, and were married in 2012. Alisha has worked in her dream job as an Early Childhood Educator since 2010, specializing in Infant and Toddler care. While it can be tough at times, she finds the job incredibly rewarding and is grateful for the skills it has provided her and the close connections she has made. Chris began work in Industrial Supply in the same year, and together we have built a life that enables us to be able to enjoy both our work and recreational time.

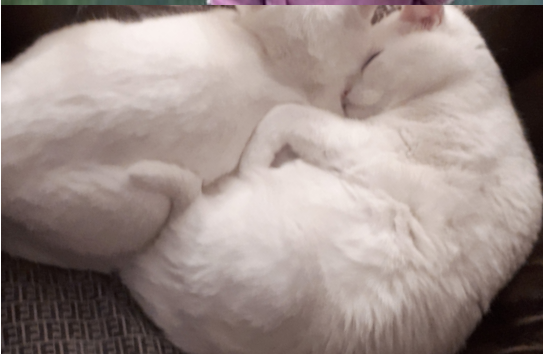

When not working or enjoying the many outdoor activities on our doorstep we love to spend time at home with our cuddle buddies, Spot and Gizmo. We love spending time together cooking, baking, hosting family game nights, or just enjoying each other's company around the backyard firepit. We also have the good fortune of enjoying the wide array of animals at the family farm nearby.

Family has always been important to us, and we have an extensive network of friends and relatives close by, who are excited by the prospect of welcoming an addition into our fold. We often have large family celebrations and get-togethers, and there is never a shortage of nieces, nephews, and cousins for the little ones to play with.

It is important to us your child knows where they come from and we will respect whatever arrangement you are comfortable with. We are completely invested in this journey and are more than happy to travel to meet with you, at any point during the adoption process.

We value connection and look forward to meeting you, learning about you, and providing support through this journey.
