

ERIC & JOSE

About Us

We are a loving and caring couple that have been together for over 5 years. We knew pretty quickly after our first date that we wanted to be together and create a family. We currently share our home with our two pets - Maya (dog) and Luna (cat). We are family oriented and love spending quality time with our chosen family, as well as with our families in Ireland and Mexico.

As a multi-cultural family, we enjoy bringing each other's culture into our home. We love celebrating our traditional cultural events and cooking our traditional foods - Irish Sunday roast dinner or tacos. In spite of our cultural differences, we share the same values: unconditional love, honesty, empathy, family time and respectful communication.

Eric is a homemaker for his family. He was born and raised in a small rural farming community in Ireland. His sense of family and community is rooted deeply. Eric has established a career in community services & recreation. Eric enjoys working out, going on long walks, cooking and dancing while listening to some of his favourite tunes.

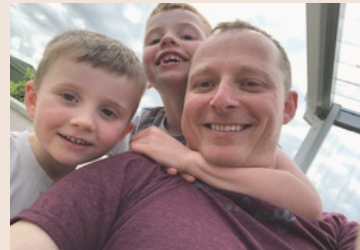

Jose is the organizer and planner in the family. He was born and raised in a tropical city in Mexico. He has an established career in city planning and volunteers his time helping the LGBTQI+ community. He's a great listener and supports his community with a non-judgmental and empathetic ear.

Our Family

We both come from large supportive families. Eric's family resides in the beautiful green rolling hills of Ireland. We visit them every two years to spend quality time with the family to create new and fond family memories. Jose's family resides in the warm coast of Mexico. We like to visit them at least once a year. All Jose's nieces and nephews were welcomed to the family through adoption, and we have enjoyed getting to know each of them. Our families are very supportive of us and are looking forward to welcoming a new member(s) to the family.

We have a diverse group of friends in Ireland, Mexico and Canada, many of them already in the journey of starting their own families, with children as young as 1 year old and teenager as old as 18 years old. We love spending time with them at home, exploring parks and playgrounds or spending weekends away together. Our chosen family is very supportive and excited for us to start our journey to become adoptive parents.

Our Home

We live in a loving and caring home in the Metro Vancouver area. We live in a safe neighbourhood close to schools, parks, community centres and surrounded by supportive neighbours. Our home is a safe place to explore and learn through reading books and doing fun activities. We enjoy exploring our neighbourhood by foot or biking. Our chosen family lives close by, giving us the opportunity to get together for bbq's or park hang outs throughout the year, especially during the summer months.

Openness

We are open to discuss the level of openness that we are all comfortable with in order to maintain good, healthy relations with everyone involved in the adoption. We look forward to the possibility of meeting you to discuss this further. We will listen to you with empathy and respect the agreements we can come up with.

Our Promise

We promise to welcome your child into our family with unconditional love, provide unconditional support, guidance and opportunities throughout their life to grow up and become who they're meant to be. We will educate with empathy, respect and care. Our home will be honest and transparent, we will speak openly about adoption, introduce your child's culture into our home and celebrate it with an open heart.
